LOSS OF STARS HURTS SPIDERS

Coach Dunlop Handicapped Through Absence of Men. First Game Saturday.
Football prospects are not near so bright at Richmond College as they were a few days ago. Coach Dunlop has been handicapped by the loss of several men in whom he placed great dependence. Bergen, the speedy back who was looked upon as a tower of strength offensively has quit college, and now comes the information that Dorsey Tyler, one of the stoutest and staunchest centers at college in years, has left the squad. Naturally these losses have delayed progress considerably but Dunlop — by no means lost heart and believes that in spite of the untoward circumstances he will turn out a team which will give a good account of itself.
The first game of the season will be played Saturday at Broad Street Park with the Maryland Argyle. Always sturdy opponents. It will take some hustling to win the game, yet Dunlop predicts a Spider victory.

LOSER OF ONE WORLD'S SERIES EXPECTED TO WIN ANOTHER

First Baseman Merkle Will Have to Be Reckoned With by the Red Sox

He Has Envious Reputation for Long and Timely Wallops of the Ball

BY JIM NASHUM.
(Copyright by The Philadelphia Inquirer Company.)

Based on past performances, which is the only evidence now obtainable in the open market, what is expected to be the next most potent bludgeon injected into the coming World's Series stuff on the Giants' side of the cast after the dreaded mace of Myers and Doyle will be the big slap-stick lodged into the hands of Fred Merkle, the Giants' first baseman. While Merkle is now petting the pill for but a shade over the .300 mark in the official figures, his 137 hits have been for a total of 203 bases, and include eleven home runs wallops, which is just three below Zimmerman's fourteen for the leading home run honors of the National League. And, viewed on a conventional basis, any batting figure that starts with a figure 3 and has eleven home runs mixed up in the details bespeak a force to be reckoned with when you are out there trying to keep the runs from oozing over the plate.

Myers, Doyle and Merkle constitute the bulk of the heavy Giant attack, and if Boston's pitchers can successfully foil the malignant machinations of this wrecking crew, the balance of the opposing assault should attain no more magnitude than a mere scattering fire of small arms pattering harmlessly against the outer works of the Red Sox ramparts.
The work that is out for Myers, Wood, Collins and O'Brien in the coming scrap is to remove the sting from the venomous bludgeons of Messrs. Myers, Doyle and Merkle, which, as viewed from a totally disinterested and unbiased position along the lines, doesn't look to be the softest snap that any aspiring elbman could pick up.
Merkle, besides being a tower of strength to the Giants on the defense through his faultless playing of the first base position, has been a potent factor in the Giants' winning of the National League flag this season through his ability to drive in runs with long wallops at crucial epochs in the period of play. Those eleven home runs, together with a miscellaneous assortment of other slams of various dimensions, have been judiciously inserted into the milling of the past season at times when they would do

With the arrival of runners, trotters, pacers and show horses for the Virginia State Fair which opens Monday for a six-day and night stand, comes word that in all probability the "bookies" will work unimpeded at the track. Word having been given for this effect is largely responsible for the large throngs which will face the hotly contested. Excepting local events, all of the races for the four days' meet will be running races, harness classes having been eliminated from the program. Attendance to-day was the largest on record for the opening.
